PROCEEDING OF THE PROGRAM

The online lecture program, organized by the Bengali department of Government General Degree College Mangalkote, featured Dr. Sougata Mukhopadhyay of Narayangarh college discussing. The program explored how Rammohan Roy utilized writing as a tool for social reform, leveraging various newspapers such as the Bengal Gazette and the Brahmanical Magazine to disseminate his ideas and influence public opinion. Dr. Mukhopadhyay analyzed the content and impact of Rammohan Roy's writings, highlighting his advocacy for social reforms like the abolition of Sati and the promotion of women's education and also discussed how Rammohan Roy challenged colonial policies through his writings, such as his critique of the British East India Company's exploitation of Indian resources. The lecture also examined how Rammohan Roy navigated colonial constraints to express his views and opinions through the press, often using satire and subtle critique to avoid censorship. For example, his newspaper articles on the need for Indian representation in government and the importance of Indian education were subtle yet powerful critiques of colonial rule.

Overall, the lecture enriched the students' understanding of Indian history, social reform movements, and the power of writing as a tool for change, providing valuable insights into the life and work of Rammohan Roy.
