VENUE: Seminar Hall, 2nd Floor

OBJECTIVE OF THE SEMINAR:

The seminar was organised with the objective of making the students aware about library management system, its importance and the technical advancements in this field.

SPEAKER:

Mr. Goutam Mondal, Librarian, GGDC, Mangalkote

PROCEEDINGS OF THE SEMINAR:

The speaker began by pointing out the main purpose of an academic library which is to support the objectives of an institution, in the area of learning, teaching, research and prompt service delivery. He then went on to describe the importance of catalogue which serves as the pointer to each piece of information resources in the library and how it facilitates users' access to library recourses. He described a catalogue as the bibliographical list of the total holdings of the library's collection and stated that it is one of the most important and useful information retrieval tools in the library. He narrated how traditional forms of catalogues have witnessed lots of changes with the introduction of 'Information and Communication Technologies' (ICTs). He then described the significance of provision of 'Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC)' in a library and its remarkable achievement on the part of both the library and its users, by easing the work of librarians. He also mentioned how it facilitates searching and retrieving of information resources by the users. However, the provision of OPAC alone cannot guarantee usage, unless the library users are made aware of its availability and shown how to use it. He stressed on the importance of making the users aware about using the service, as well as the need to periodically evaluate and examine their views, feelings, perceptions and attitudes towards that service.
