PROCEEDINGS OF THE PROGRAM-

Dr. Angshuman Seth's lecture on "Educational Thoughts of Rabindranath Tagore" at GGDC, Mangalkote, offered an insightful exploration of the poet's vision for education. Tagore believed education should foster individual freedom, creativity, and social responsibility. He advocated for a holistic approach, integrating physical, mental, and spiritual development. Dr. Seth highlighted Tagore's emphasis on the importance of nature, art, and music in the educational process. He discussed how Tagore's own educational experiments at Santiniketan aimed to create a harmonious balance between individual growth and social awareness.

The speaker also explored Tagore's critiques of conventional education, which he saw as perpetuating rote learning and conformity. Instead, Tagore envisioned an education that nurtured critical thinking, imagination, and innovation. Throughout the lecture, Dr. Seth skilfully wove together Tagore's writings, poems, and songs to illustrate his educational philosophy. He demonstrated how Tagore's ideas remain relevant today, offering a powerful counterpoint to prevailing educational paradigms. The lecture inspired the audience to rethink the purpose and practice of education, encouraging them to embrace Tagore's vision of a more holistic, inclusive, and creative learning process. The audience have engaged deeply with the lecture, reflecting on the significance of Tagore's ideas for contemporary educational practices.
