ABOUT THE PROGRAMME:

India is a treasure trove of culture, heritage and literature. The interesting fact about this country is its diversity and the local beliefs associated in various parts of the country that has given rise to various tales, often referred to as folk tales. These tell tales of ancient history of a region, superstitions and religious beliefs that shaped a particular part of India. Most of these are either passed down through generations orally as songs or stories or are depicted in paintings, handlooms or other works of art. Though civilization brought to mankind the boons of science and technology these little pieces of art are being eroded with time. The programme aims to enlighten the students about the folk tales of Bengal which will help them appreciate the Indian culture, heritage and literature.
