Profile of Government General Degree College, Mangalkote: Government General Degree College, Mangalkote was established in 2015 in Mangalkote, Purba Bardhaman district, West Bengal — under the state government’s initiative to expand access to higher education in rural areas. The college is affiliated with University of Burdwan and recognised under the relevant UGC regulations. It began with undergraduate courses in Arts: Honours in Bengali, English, History, Political Science and Sociology, along with a general B.A. programme. From the 2016–17 academic session, it expanded to include Science: offering B.Sc. Honours (e.g. in Zoology), alongside general science subjects.

The college’s campus spans a green, semi-rural setting (about 7 acres), built in front of a “dighi” (pond) and fields, offering a serene learning environment. Its facilities include a functioning library (with currently over 3,000 books), science labs, Wi-Fi connectivity, canteen, common rooms, and spaces for indoor games — supporting holistic development. Admission is merit-based. The college serves students from socially and economically modest backgrounds, aiming to provide affordable, quality undergraduate education close to home.

Profile of Databits Tecnologia: Databits is a leading IT training institution that has been shaping the careers of thousands of students in Bengal since 2010. Founded by eminent IT professionals and educators, DATABITS TECNOLOGIA offers cutting-edge IT training, skill development, and grooming services to help students succeed in the knowledge economy. DATABITS TECNOLOGIA also provides multi-disciplinary vocational and skill development courses that equip students with real-life skills for employability and entrepreneurship. DATABITS TECNOLOGIA is supported by IT industry experts from around the world, including prominent IT professionals from the USA and retired government officials. In addition to IT training, DATABITS TECNOLOGIA also has a wing that provides direct employment opportunities to its students in its own IT/ITeS application development unit. DATABITS TECNOLOGIA development wing specializes in web application development, UI design, mobile application development, CMS, customized e-management systems, e-commerce solutions, SEO, corporate presentation, digital documentation, and many more.
